Hub Pen Hires Manufacturing and Quality Engineer Michael Sacco

Braintree, MA, September, 2017 – Hub Pen Company and Beacon Promotions have hired Michael Sacco as Manufacturing and Quality Engineer. Sacco worked as Product Engineer for Tyco fire protection products for 7 plus years. “When I was with Tyco I got to know not only the quality side of things, but design, customer service, finances,” says Sacco. “Tyco was a large company, so it’s been a much more focused position with a smaller company like Hub Pen. Everyone here has one goal: to get stuff done. It’s nice to see even the CEO (Joe Fleming) on the production floor.”

Sacco is excited to be joining the company at a time of growth. “Everyone is committed to growing the company and bringing in new and better equipment and technologies. It’s my job to help with these implementations and so far it’s been a lot of fun. The production team has been really supportive and on board.”

“Just within the first 2 weeks, Mike has shown a very good technical understanding of the projects he is working on,” says Hub Pen Operations Manager Conor Brooks. “He brings a needed energy that will help drive improvement projects across both Quality and Production.”

A Rhode Island native, Sacco now calls South Boston home. When he’s not at Hub, he’s most likely playing volley ball, both on the beach and on the court. Michael also is an avid member of the “Southie” CrossFit community.
